SIDARION

If you knew Sidarion, you'd probably say he was the most unique person you've ever met. Beyond that, he was sure to make memories you'll never forget.

Memories like the questions he asked you, challenging you to think deeper, or to open your mind. And if you allowed him, he could spill knowledge to you for hours at a time.

He had his own little world, loved his family but liked his space. More often than not, you could find him somewhere walking, playing Fallout, or watching Anime.

Those were simply his hobbies, only a few of his favorite things, but mostly any food he ate just had to include hot sauce, he put it on everything!

The most loving person you'll ever meet, and would give you anything you needed right on the spot, but he made sure he always spoke his mind and did so whether you liked it or not.

He would always tell you he loved you, and you could tell it came from the heart. He would make sure to leave you with a hug to remember him by before you could depart.

You left your mark on the world Sidarion, we'll never forget that smile. Thank God for allowing us an awesome 23 years with you, we promise to keep your memory alive and finish the remaining miles.
